Ice is Here! Or is it?

It's early winter and temperatures are still fluctuating. Keep in mind that ice can be weakened by freeze/thaw cycles, layers of snow or water within, and snow build-up on top (which acts as an insulator, softening the ice below).

If you plan on going on to the ice, be sure to measure it in several locations, while wearing a lifejacket in case it breaks. Who knew lifejackets were handy all year round?! Also, make sure you bring a buddy and have an emergency plan that you're prepared to use.
